

It's a Wild World: Science Topic: Living things (Animals) and their Habitats

Finally, after his interesting journey, Sunny is home!

This week we finished our journey with Sunny and arrived back in the Kalahari Desert - home! During our topic this half term we have learned how important habitats are for animals such as the meerkat. In our Science lessons we asked ourselves 'What can humans do to look after Sunny's habitat?' We also thought about 'What would happen if people built their homes near Sunny's desert?'. In our English lessons we ended our story by writing postcards as Sunny, telling our family that we are coming home and how much we missed them!

English ~ Exclamation Marks!

We used Sunny's postcards home to practise and explore when and how to use exclamation marks. When we are writing a letter, diary or postcard they can show when we are feeling excited, scared, angry or even surprised!

Homework: 'Where does the exclamation mark go?' sheet. Practise how and when to use exclamation marks.

Spelling Project ~

Writing to a Hundred Practice!

We continue this week writing number words from forty-one to fifty. We need to learn to write all our numbers in words correctly and remember how to do it! Once you think you have mastered spelling the number in words, circle it in your hundred square. This is a project to keep at home - we will add to it each week.

We are now half way there! What does that tell you about the number fifty and one hundred?

Maths ~ Number & Place Value, Mental Addition and Subtraction

We compared and ordered numbers, using $<$ and $>$ signs. We also found 10 more and 10 less than any 2-digit number on making leaps on the number line.

Homework: Numbers on a Line, Number Cross Challenge, All the Fives Activities

Please remember to do Maths 'workouts' as much as you can to keep your Maths skills simmering!
